

Education

---

California State University, Los Angeles

May 2018

- B.S. Computer Science

Major Coursework

---

Courses

- Data Structures and Algorithms
- Web and Internet Programming
- Relational Databases & SQL
- Object-Orientated Programming
- Programming Paradigm

Projects

- Learning with Alexa (Hackathon; 4th place): Trivia game consisting of true or false questions using Amazon Echo and Firebase. Used Amazon Web Services and Firebase to push and pull data onto a website to display questions.
  - Languages used: JavaScript, HTML
- GPA Calculator: Calculate the total GPA of the quarter/semester and uses RegEx validation to make sure class input and grade input are correct.
  - Languages used: Java
- Notes: Note taking interface that allowed user to view, edit, delete contents of specific notes. Creation is also implemented. Uses MySQL database to store the notes and project was implemented in Model-View-Controller (MVC) architecture.
  - Languages used: Java, HTML, SQL

Languages

- Java; HTML; JavaScript; SQL; Bash

Work Experience

---

Motel Assistant

Summer 2015

El Rancho Motel. Pasadena, CA

- Washed carpets and painted doors
- Interacted with guests and helped out with what they needed

Volunteer Experience

---

MESA Engineering Program (MEP)

2013 – 2015

Los Angeles, CA

- Attend professional development workshops
- Volunteering for events: Boeing Day/ECST Open House and MESA Day

Extracurricular Activities

---

Association for Computing Machinery (ACM)

2013 – present

Citrus Hack

October 2016

- Winner of 'Best Voice User Experience using Amazon Alexa'